

Consultare Consulting is acting globally in many business lines

Consultare Consulting was founded in 2009 in Singapore and ever since then has been located there and has expanded to further sites in Europe and Asia.

Since the foundation we have grown to a leading consulting firm for various industries and for all types of products. Our services are inter alia appreciated in the automotive industry, the food and grocery industry, in manufacturing or in Semicon industries. Whether the market introduction of products and services or in operational corporate governance, we offer expert help to establish your company in the market. Thus, we represent companies such as Microhandling Asia from Singapore or wave-2-wave from the US.

Through our partnerships with our partners, we are often already involved in the planning of new products and their production and thereby meet the customer requirements quickly, competent and at a high quality

. We not only distribute products but also help during the production planning, equipment installation and we maintain your products at your customer's site. Highest quality from many years and experience play an important role as well as our punctuality. Likewise, our clients appreciate the favorable cost

structure we can provide as a medium-sized businesses at any time.
